Contingent Acceptance

Students who accept an offer of contingent acceptance into the Associate Degree Nursing Program must complete the following requirements. Detailed information and required forms will be provided directly by the program:

❖ Orientation/Readiness for Nursing Class

Class will be scheduled for July/August. Attendance is required.

❖ Current CPR Certification

Students must obtain CPR certification through the American Heart Association at the BLS Healthcare Provider Level, preferably at Rowan-Cabarrus Community College.

❖ Background Report/Drug Screen/Physical Examination/Current Immunization Documentation

Clinical facilities establish requirements for students assigned to their sites for clinical education. In addition, national and/or state registry and licensure boards may restrict eligibility for registry or licensure based on criminal background records.

Students who are denied access to a clinical facility for any reason will not be provided with an alternate placement. Without access to a clinical site, the student will be unable to meet required clinical objectives and therefore will not be able to progress in the program.
